

(FIS) to do do do

This to us he has given the one who is our Creator this is our way to be. No matter the number of people at one place are gathered, that is be first in order the giving of thanks.

This has become my duty that I put through the first words.

Now then that this day as it is the sunlight as it is, that peaceful our minds should be.

Now then this many of we people are gathered here at this time and place we put our minds as one.

First we greet one another with great respect and thanksgiving that way our minds should be.

Now truly he has created this earth whom we call our mother for whom we are thankful . There he has planted all that we need. That we must have to survive. That is where we take from to keep us happy. Now at this point in time still she is doing her duties rightly that the Creator has given her. Now then we respectfully, kindly as one we put our minds. We acknowledge and give thanks to our Mother Earth that way then let it be in our minds.

Now we give thanks to all the things Creator has brought down for us so peacefully we can walk on earth. It is a great matter what he has planted and released for our benefit. We acknowledge and give thanks to everything Creator has given to us. Let it be that way in our minds.

Now then there are gentle moving winds they for us give good air to breath. Now we are happy and grateful that still peaceful mild winds move around us not too hard or harsh. With great care and respect as one we put our minds. We acknowledge and give thanks for the moving winds. That way let it be our minds.

Now then he has separated things. He has given each one duties. These are special and important duties. He has given them additional powers the first one being our Grandfathers the Thundering Voices in the direction of the setting sun they come from. Also our older Brother the Sun, Our Grandmother Moon and the Stars. We are happy and grateful they are still doing their duties We acknowledge and give thanks that way then let it be our minds.

Now he has selected Four Sky People who are protecting us. We are grateful and thankful they are still doing their duty as it was given to them. We kindly with our greatest respect put our minds together into one. We acknowledge and give thanks to the Four Beings, our protectors. So let it be that way.

Then a person was chosen our leader at the time Handsome Lake. He carried the words of the Creator. We thank him who was our leader Handsome Lake. So that way let it be in our minds.

Now what he has done he has decided that from the earth we will start when they give thanks and finish there at the place where he lives. Now then we are very thankful and grateful he still loves us. So we kindly put together as one our minds. We that the one who lives in the Sky world our Creator. So let us keep it that way in our minds.
