1. Further to North American member of the forum Ms. Tonya Gonnella Frichner's questions, how is FAO addressing the North – South situation in particular Indigenous rural areas e.g. We have ongoing issues where we have ranching as a way of life (you are no doubt aware of the ongoing efforts by Carrie Dann). The related issue, importantly relate to water (Currently e.g. We have challenges regarding the Treaty and human rights to water)
2. How does FAO work with other agencies and bodies related to conservation and preservation of our eco-habitat (for instance in the boreal forests and off our coastal waterways) to ensure food sovereignty, food security and advancement of our cultural, economic and spiritual practices related to local and traditional food production practices?
