

PHR

Physicians for Human Rights

CCESC

ECOSUR

SA 3.1.1.
EXC

A report by:

Physicians for Human Rights

El Colegio de la Frontera Sur

Centro de Capacitación en Ecología y
Salud para Campesinos-Defensoría del
Derecho a la Salud

EXCLUDED PEOPLE,
ERODED COMMUNITIES
Realizing the Right to Health
in Chiapas, Mexico

CONTENTS

Maps	iv	Pulmonary Tuberculosis among Persons Age Fifteen and Older
Glossary of Terms and Acronyms	v	Availability, Accessibility, Acceptability, Quality and Use of Health Services for Self-reported Illness in the Month Prior to the Study
Acknowledgments	vii	Limitations and Implications for Interpretation of Findings
I. Executive Summary	1
II. Context	9
Chiapas and the Study Area
Historical Context: Pre-1994
Post-Uprising: The Emergence of Civil Resistance
1995-2000: The Government's Response
2000-2005: Change in the Government and More of the Same
III. Methods	19
Identification of Study Population
Sampling
Consent
Questionnaires and Survey
Statistical Analysis
IV. Findings	23
Selected Demographic, Socio-economic and Ethno-linguistic Indicators
Selected Social Determinants of Health Education
Shelter and Housing Conditions
Water and Sanitation
Maternal Health
Prenatal Care
Use of Delivery Care Services
Maternal Mortality in the Previous Two Years
Child Health
Childhood Malnutrition
Infant Mortality
Vaccination
		V. The Framework of the Right to Health	41
		under International and Domestic Law
		Introduction to International Norms and Status of Mexico's Obligations
		Principles Characterizing a Human Rights Approach to Health and How They Apply to the Conflict Zone in Chiapas
		Non-retrogression and Adequate Progress
		Non-discrimination and Equity
		Meaningful Popular Participation
		Multi-sectoral Strategies
		Accountability
		VI. Recommendations to the	55
		Mexican Government
		Appendix: San Andrés Accords	57